Dolores co-founded United Farm Workers (UFW) with Cesar Chavez and has played a major role in the American civil rights movement. She is most well known for her role in the UFW national grape boycott which resulted in the first contract to provide health care and unemployment benefits for farm workers and protected their right to organize as a union. She is the mother of 11 children and grandmother to 14. Dolores has been arrested 22 times in her struggle for human rights and food justice and continues to be a powerful voice within the movement.
